THE AIM OF CFPS-N

The Nogbedji Vocational and Social Training Center (CFPS-N) is a center created to train orphaned, abandoned, disabled and poor children, as well as victims of forced or early marriage, who are in the villages of Togo.

WHAT APPRENTICES DO

In our Center, our students undergo 3 years of vocational training in trades such as: men's and women's sewing, embroidery, women's hairstyling and baking.

As many of our students come from poor families, many have not attended school or have needed to drop out early. To overcome this problem, we have a classroom where we teach literacy and numeracy. During their time at the center, students also learn about God through weekly Bible classes and prayer times.

AFTER TRAINING

After the students have completed the three year program, they receive equipment to set up their own businesses in their home villages. These businesses help provide for their families and train other young people in their village. This allows our training to impact not only our students, but many communities throughout Togo.
